EIT – Electronic Instrumentation & Technology, LLC

As a part of the Zollner Group, Europe's market leader among electronics service providers, Electronic Instrumentation and Technology "EIT", offers tailored solutions, as well as a comprehensive spectrum of EMS capabilities throughout the entire product life cycle. Since 1977 we have supported our customers using modern technologies, as well as experience-based expertise, in their product developments as well as their full product life cycles. We do this from all three of our locations, Leesburg VA, Danville VA, and Salem NH.

Solutions for your ideas

Founded in 1977, EIT has nearly 50-years of EMS (Electronics Manufacturing Services) experience in the development and support of medium to high-level technology products for customers in a variety of sectors. We forge long term, trusting relationships, creating innovative solutions of the highest quality driving sustainable growth for both EIT and our customers.

Since 2022, EIT has been a part of the Zollner Group of companies. The combination of the two companies allows us to further expand our competencies in terms of performance spectrum, know-how and technology. Zollner's global presence also carries great advantages for our customers and employees.

A dependable partner that offers:

- Tailored solutions with 24/7 service along the entire product life cycle – from single parts and complete modules all the way through complex devices and systems.
- Personal service, financial stability, and available capacity to support your growth.
- Multiple manufacturing facilities covering the entire US East Coast as well as across the globe ensuring supply chain continuity.
- Engineering support from the design and prototype stage through the entire product life cycle.
- System integration – complex assembly, direct order fulfillment and depot/warranty repair solutions.
- Best-in-class manufacturing support including program management, supply chain and quality systems.
